The game's match engine, an innovative engine technology that enables developers to build more realistic player animations, adds further depth to its gameplay by matching the movements of the real players in ultra-precise detail. Players are defined by positioning on the pitch, speed, acceleration and muscle power. The animations will provide players with a more accurate representation of their speed, acceleration and muscle power, in addition to maintaining the balance of real player weight, movement patterns and dynamic motion. Our CEO Christian Abboud shared his opinion on the new technology: "We are very proud of FIFA and the game series and are proud to be part of this momentous event. The game faces a tough competition this year with a lot of new football games so we are sure that it will continue to be the top-selling soccer game in the world for years to come." With over 20 years of experience in the South African game, the founder and director of the renowned Vernons karting circuit (MKVC), Jacques Raeseth has made considerable strides in the South African tuning scene. From the MKVC, he has accumulated over 15 years experience in tuning and developing race karts, and is quickly gaining a reputation within the international karting industry. "Our aim is to have a track that is safe, enjoyable for all and is forgiving of the novice as well as the experienced driver" Jacques says. "We currently run a 32,000 square metre facility with a high tech Formula Pro school and circuits for Rallycross, Superkarts, Superspeedways, 4wd desert drifts and of course karts, you name it and we have it," Jacques continues.
